PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

A Never-Failing Cure for Burns, Scalds, Bruises, Cuts, Sores, etc.

After forty years of trial, Perry Davis' Pain Killer stands unrivaled. It is safe! It acts immediately! It never fails!

Editor of the St. John (N. B.) News, says: In flesh wounds, aches, pains, sores, etc., it is the most effectual remedy we know of. No family should be without a bottle of it for a single hour.

From the Cincinnati Dispatch: We have seen its magic effects, and know it to be a good article.

From I. S. Potter, U. S. Consul at Crefeld, Rhenish Prussia: After long years of use, I am satisfied it is positively efficient as a healing remedy for wounds, bruises, and sprains.

J. W. Sharper, Valdosta, Ga., says: It is a panacea for all bruises and burns.

From R. W. Adams, Saco, Me.: It gave me immediate relief.

R. Lewis says: In forty years' use it never has failed me.

W. W. Lum, Nicholville, N. Y., says: I use your PAIN KILLER frequently. It relieves pain and soreness, and heals wounds like magic.

J. W. Dee says: For scalds and burns it has no equal.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER is not a new untried remedy. For forty years it has been in constant use; and those who have used it the longest are its best friends.

Its success is entirely because of its merit. JUDGE BLACK ON IRELAND.

THE YOKE OF POLITICAL BONDAGE.

At the celebration of the centenary of the Grattan declaration of Irish independence in Baltimore last week Judge Black spoke upon the Irish troubles. He said that for seven centuries Ireland has worn the yoke of political bondage. During all that time, except one short interval, she has not been permitted to make any laws for the protection of her own people in their persons or property. What they call home rule, or the privilege of local self-government, is wholly denied them. Their affairs are entirely directed by another power, whose orders are executed by agents and overseers sent upon them for that purpose. Such a government is sure to be administered without the smallest regard for the rights, interests, feelings or wishes of the people who are subject to it. The want of home rule in Ireland is the want of everything else. As a consequence of that privation she is oppressed, degraded, insulted, steeped in poverty to the very lips and overwhelmed with afflictions which make her peculiarly what Senator Bayard has called her "the Island of Sorrows." The general notion is that England and Ireland are united kingdoms. But there is no real union. There is a connection made by force; they are "pinned together with bayonets." Ireland is not governed according either to the common or statute law of England, but by special legislation made for her alone. In effect, the British Government, which is a limited monarchy at home, becomes an unrestrained and absolute despotism when it crosses the Channel; and the exercise of this unbounded power through all the centuries of its existence has been marked with the coarsest cruelty and the most heartless oppression that this world has ever witnessed. If the Irish had been inferior to the race which trampled them down, their fate would seem less hard. But intellectually and morally they were greatly superior; their civilization, science, art and general intelligence were much farther advanced. The deliberate and long-continued effort of England to darken the mind of Ireland and reduce her people as much as possible to ignorance and illiterate barbarism is a most shocking part of the story.

THE LAND QUESTION.

Judge Black next took up the land question and said that much of the present trouble was due to the unnatural relations between the millions whose labor cultivates the soil and the landlords, small in number but great in power, who stand ready to snatch away the fruits of it as soon as they are gathered. Judge Black spoke of this land, formerly owned by the Irish, as having been taken from them. He believed in the sacred right of property, but the existence of that gigantic monopoly, clothed with the privilege of desolating a country and starving the industry of a people, was the saddest fact in the history of the human race. Except in Ireland all nations of the earth had been making some progress. During the last forty years the population of other countries had doubled or trebled, but in Ireland the numbers had been reduced from nine millions to five, and of those who survive the great majority were suffering the last extremes of want and necessity. When the blood of that unhappy people cries from the ground, the British tyrant cannot answer like Cain, "Am I my brother's keeper?" The rulers of a nation are its keepers, responsible for its fate, and these men have an awful account to render. But each defeated effort to right themselves was made an excuse for the infliction of new outrages. Whole districts were depopulated by the process which they called a clearance—that is, the destruction of all habitations and the expulsion of all occupants, accompanied by circumstances of the direst cruelty. Political opinions adverse to the government were sure to call down its wrath and malice. Even the fidelity of the people to their religious convictions—the highest virtue that can adorn any human character—was imputed to them as a crime and punished so barbarously that it cannot be thought of without detestation and horror. I deny that this was in any true sense a conflict of religious opinion. Let no Protestant slander his church by asserting that its doctrines contain any warrant for persecuting those who dissent from it. No Christian man, with a conscience of his own, ever thought himself authorized to force the conscience of another. English bigotry was merely simulated to cover English rapacity.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?

But what can we do for them? How can we help them in this fearful strait? We have no right to come between England and her subjects by any kind of force or violence, for that is prohibited by the law of both countries and by treaty stipulations. But you have ways well understood of giving moral comfort and material aid which break no law. The most devoted adherents of the British Ministry acknowledged that the success of their Irish policy is more endangered by your opposition to it than by all other causes put together. A Land League merely Irish they can easily repress, but a league with its roots on this side of the Atlantic will grow to be a power not merely formidable but fatal to the ascendancy of the landlords.

Judge Black went on to tell how the present attitude of the Land League was a new era in the history of the contest. Agricultural laborers resolved that they would not work for their enemies, and tenants said they would voluntarily pay no rent without the distinct assurance of some permanent and substantial relief to the country. It was the grandest labor strike on record. The association was perfectly lawful. It spread panic among landlords, middlemen and bailiffs. The contest deepened as it grew more intense. Some of the landlords took new views of their duty; the League pressed its appeal to the heart and conscience of the British nation, and so a great revolution took place in public opinion. A new Parliament was elected, which included among its members the boldest and most eloquent leaders of the League, and a new Ministry came in solemnly pledged that Ireland should have justice without denial or delay. The Parliament assembled and it soon became evident that the Ministry instead of facing the great question of the day like men were anxious only to shuffle out of their promises. The land act of 1880 was a mere abortion. No attempt was made to sustain it. In less than a year it ceased to live and was buried out of sight. Something had to be furnished in place of it. In spite of all warning and against the steady protest of the wisest men the land act of 1881 was elaborated and brought forth. Again all hopes were disappointed; the new act exasperated everybody and made the antagonism between the parties more deadly than ever. The leaders of the people besought them not to swallow this stone, which they were offered in place of the bread they had asked for. They exhorted them to maintain their attitude of passive obedience and keep up the peaceful strike until its object should be at least in some measure accomplished. To the unanswerable wisdom and truth of this advice the government had nothing to oppose except brute force. The League was called a conspiracy; its petition for justice was declared to be a revolt; its meetings were dispersed; the members of Parliament who had claimed fulfillment of the Ministerial promises were arrested; five hundred leading men, distinguished as advocates of justice to Ireland, and guiltless as the child unborn of any offence, were kidnapped, dragged from their homes and thrust into prison.

ATROCIOUS TYRANNY.

For a long time Europe has seen no tyranny so atrocious as this. Within half a century Russian despotism has not practiced that kind of cruelty, even in Poland, on a scale so gigantic. The Turk has been on his good behavior ever since the Greek revolution. It is more than a hundred years ago that the bastiles of France used to be filled with the victims of personal and political spite. The English Government is more despotic than all the rest. It is a mixture of feudal barbarism and Oriental duplicity, harder to bear than mediæval tyranny. The hand of Gladstone is heavier on the heart of Ireland than the sword of Henry II. Do not forget that these sufferers are men of upright honorable and pure lives; they suffer because of their good character. No man liable to be condemned according to the law is ever smitten against law. The worst rulers are content with the regular machinery of justice when they desire to suppress actual crime. It is only against the innocent that they employ the agency of the bravo and the kidnapper. The very order to seize these men and keep them imprisoned without a trial is proof conclusive that they have done nothing worthy of death or bonds. For aught I can see the kidnapping of five hundred innocent persons for not believing in the land act was as lawless as so many murders. Thus far I have spoken of the case as it stands between the British Government and its Irish subjects. Upon this we can only assist with our voices in making up the judgment of the world. But recent events have given us a more particular interest in the subject matter. American citizens have been kidnapped as basely as the Irish patriots. What will we do about that? I know not. But if we submit to this insult we must acknowledge that England is the master of Ireland and America both. If, on the other hand, we call that lawless power to a proper reckoning she will see the necessity not only of discharging the American prisoners, but of making full and ample reparation, lest a worst thing come upon her. The release of the Irish will necessarily follow, for England cannot afford to admit that she has yielded to fear what she denies to justice.

What is to be the final outcome of the struggle? It needs no prophet to foresee that Ireland is doomed to total destruction if she be not supported and sustained by strength outside of her own. But if we, the American people, shall perform our duties fairly well, and if our government shall not attempt to shirk out of its public responsibilities, the hope is a reasonable one that some of us now here may live to see Ireland "redeemed, regenerated and disenthralled."

Hope Ahead.

A committee of stockholders who waited upon the superintendent of a California mine to ask why in blazes the said mine hadn't panned out anything but assessments, were graciously received, invited to be seated, and the official explained:

"Gentlemen, you are all aware of the fact that we had scarcely begun work when the mouth of our mine was blocked by a land slide. That put us back a month."

They nodded their remembrance.

"Then we had just got in shape to to take out 4,000 tons of ore, worth $2,000 per ton, when the mine caved in. You recall it?"

They did.

"Once more we bent ourselves to the burden of reaping $500 for every $10 invested, when the mine was flooded by a subterranean river."

That was also true.

"Then we had just got the water out when we discovered that our mine was located on another man's claim. We had him shot to prevent trouble, and once more we were about to declare a dividend of 200 per cent., when the dead man's heirs put in an appearance. There were three of them. We chased one over the range, had another hung by the vigilance committee, and I am happy to inform you that I have four men out after the other, and am every hour expecting to hear that he has tumbled off a cliff. Gentlemen, there is hope ahead—golden hope. Please come up and have a drink with me; after which there will be another assessment of 10 per cent."

Captain Percival, a Cape Cod mariner of the old school, was once awakened in his bunk by a shipmate with the announcement that the vessel was going to eternity. "Well," replied the captain, "I've got ten friends over there to one in this world; let her go." And he turned over and went to sleep again.

How the Jeannette Sank.

The San Francisco Call publishes a letter from Dr. H. C. Ledyard, an American, now in Siberia, to a friend in that city. At Irkutsk Dr. Ledyard met Lieutenant Danenhower, who gave him interesting details of the loss of the Jeannette. Since the first fall they were out, when they were caught by the ice in trying to reach Herald Island, they had never taken a course, but the vessel was held as in jaws of death, squeezed until every timber was strained. They were every hour in suspense, never knowing when the ice would close upon them. Throughout this strain they were well and tried to be cheerful. They worked very hard, for the engine and the men were barely able to keep the water out. They had to pump for a year and a half.

On June 11, 1881, the crisis came. The ship showed greater straining than before, the deck quivered and inexplicable movements warned them to hasten from the vessel. They prepared their boats and made their camp beside the Jeannette. She rose and turned in her cradle until the yards touched the ice. Then the rigging gave away and her masts lay prostrate. At 4 o'clock in the morning the floe parted and all went down. A cry of alarm called all to escape from the crevice in the ice. It opened just through the captain's tent. Then began the retreat. For twenty-nine days they struggled southward, 300 miles of broken ice being thus passed over. Four miles a day was thought good fortune. After one series of fourteen days they were twenty seven miles further north than at first. While working over the ice and dragging three boats they discovered Bennett Island, to explore which they spent three weeks of their precious summer day and expended much of their limited supply of food. To this detour those who survived attribute much of their suffering and the death of their commander, with nineteen men. After three months of this perilous and exhausting work they came to blue water, and then, with fair winds, took their course for the mouth of the Lena river. Chief Engineer Melville's boat was stove against a block of ice and the captain's boat lost her mast and sail. The captain landed with all well, but abandoned the boat, as the water was shallow and could not make the channel of the river.

Amole—A Plant that Yields Soap.

These cacti grow on the American continent from Mount Shasta on the north to a similar latitude in South America, and from the Pacific coast to east of the Rio Grande, through New Mexico, and western Texas.

The flower stalks are destitute of leaves but are plentifully supplied with branches about eighteen inches long, from which flowers of white and yellow colors are suspended in the flowering season. The bulbous root is from one to six inches in diameter and from six to eighteen inches long.

A saponaceous juice is expressed from the root and the fibre of the leaves is heckled for the manufacture of mattresses, cushions, and chair seats. The vegetable soap extracted from the root has been used by the Indians, Mexicans, and others for many years as a hair wash, and exceeds in purity our manufacture from animal substances.

The preservative qualities of the soap are well known, and its use gives the hair a fine natural glow, preventing decay of the hair and eradicating dandruff or other impurities on the scalp.

Cattle eat the leaves in the Spring as a purgative. And cut into bits and thrown on water where fish abound, the effect is stupefacation of the fish, when they can be easily taken.

The price among the Indians and Mexicans, who sell it in Tucson, is five cents for a bunch of two stalks interlaced (mancuerna).

For cleaning flannels the amole is found vastly superior. It may be hoped that the manufacture and preparation of amole may become one of the industrial pursuits of the age.—Tucson Citizen.

A Very Old Bell.

The bell hanging in the belfry of the Episcopal church in Ellicottville, N. Y., is one of the oldest in America. It was cast in Moscow, Russia, in 1708, and was one of a chime of bells in a cathedral in that city. The cathedral was burned by Napoleon in 1811. Several years afterward the bell was sold in a lot of old metal which became ballast for a vessel sailing to New York without a cargo. Andrew Meneeley, of Troy, discovered it in a scrap pile in New York years afterward. He bought it and for a long time it was kept by him at his bell foundry in Troy as a curiosity. In 1831 a resident of Ellicottville went to Troy to buy a bell for the Episcopal church which had been completed. He induced the foundryman to sell him the old Russian bell. It has been in use ever since.

THE COLUMBIAN.

G. E. ELWELL, } Editors.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28th, 1882.

The Sunbury Democrat formally presents the name of State Senator S. P. Wolverton as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, and promises, if he is nominated, that Northumberland county will give him from 3,000 to 4,000 majority.

George Scoville has formally withdrawn from Guiteau's case and has addressed a letter to the justices of the Supreme court of the District of Columbia giving his reasons for so doing.

The well known dry goods firm of A. T. Stewart & Co, New York, the largest in the country, will give up business and have offered their buildings, stock and good will for sale. This is a genuine surprise to the mercantile world as it was generally believed that the house was doing a large and lucrative business. It is now asserted that it has not prospered since the death of Mr. Stewart.

This rather plain talk is from The New Yrok Sun, under the caption: "Two Things Republicans Should Desire."

"1. The abolition of Speaker Keifer. He is a fool.

"2. The abolition of ex-Secretary Robeson. He is a knave.

"When a fool and a knave are the leaders of a political party, and the knave runs the fool, the party is likely to be damaged."

The New York World rises to remark that 'Speaker Keifer, in his bright and brief career at Washington, reminds us irresistibly of the little pig of phenomenal appetite which, having assimilated a bucketful of food, was placed in the bucket and found only to half fill it. The point of resemblance is that as Speaker Mr. Keifer has managed to lose a great deal more reputation than he had when he went to Washington.

Our townsman Col. John G. Freeze has written a letter, which was published in the Philadelphia Times last week, suggesting that the democrats and independents of this state unite their forces, the democrats to name the candidate for governor, supreme judge and congressman-at-large, and the independents to select the candidates for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs. Whether such a coalition would prove successful is problematical, but there is little chance of its being formed.

The Comptroller of the Currency has, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, decided to issue five-dollar national bank notes upon a new plate, the principal features of which will be an engraved head of the late President Garfield, with the new charter numbers in various portions of the note and particularly in the border, so that the identity of the note may be easily ascertained from any fragment. The other denominations of national bank notes of the series of 1882 will also be changed, so that they can be readily distinguished from former issues.

A pretty condition of affairs is this, truly. Here's Chili, a little country of about two millions of people, poking fun at the navy of the United States. And not only that, but snubbing our officials and "sassing" our gallant tars. If the enormity of their degradation ever strikes the American people they will arise as one man and slaughter Secor Robeson. With Chandler as Secretary of the Navy and Robeson as chairman of the committee on naval affairs, how much of a navy are we likely to get for the $15,000,000 it is proposed to expend? Big enough to scare Chili into respectful silence?

About six years ago Hallet Kilbourne, one of the most active and efficient of the rotten District of Columbia ring, was sent to jail by order of the House of Representatives as a contumacious witness. He subsequently brought suit against John G. Thompson Sergeant-at-arms of the House at the time of his imprisonment. A few days ago the jury rendered a verdict of $100,000 in Kilbourne's favor. This outrageous sum ought never to be paid under any consideration. Kilbourne was only imprisoned a few days, lived luxuriously and had no hardships. The case will be taken to the Supreme Court on appeal.

Senator Cameron's post-office fight in Wilkes Barre has gained for him but two Lackawanna delegates to the State Convention, but it is positively certain that he has lost the Luzerne delegates by his duplicity and bad faith. In Wilkes Barre, ex-postmaster Smith ran as an anti-Cameron candiate and swept the city, his opponent having a beggarly score. In the other districts Cameron was equally unfortunate, the conventions having passed resolutions adverse to his interests. It begins to look as if in Luzerne county at least there is a genuine revolt against the machine leader. The bitterness engendered by the fight for the post office grows stronger and as Cameron is too stubborn to yield even in the smallest particular, the policy of conciliation will not be attempted. Perhaps the Governor will grow to be as big as the Senator after all.

No one can now doubt what Cameron is doing. He is making a lavish use of Federal patronage to elect a Republican majority of his willing tools to the next Legislature, to secure his own return to the United States Senate. With President Arthur behind him, he takes no notice of his colleague in the Senate, but defies the Republicans of Pennsylvania to defeat his re-election, which he claims he can secure by the free use of his money and the distribution of patronage against the will of the party. There is no mistake about the plain meaning of Cameron's treatment of Mitchell and every other Republican of prominence in Pennsylvania who is not a Stalwart. It is contemptous and defiant treatment, by which the Republicans of Pennsylvania are challenged to a trial of strength by Cameron, his strikers and his official dependents. It is idle to hope that Cameron will ever act fairly while he has power to act selfishly. The Republicans of Pennsylvania may as well accept the only alternative Cameron allows—either to break his political neck or to continue in humiliating subjection to his domineering arrogance.—Easton Free Press.

Senator Mitchell is very mad indeed and has been in conference with Wolfe and other anti-Cameronians. Mitchell needs to tie his scalp on tight if he expects to preserve that useful appendage through the campaign.

William Cameron's Will.

AN INTERESTING WILL CASE TO BE DECIDED NEXT MONTH.

The Harrisburg Patriot says that the Supreme Court is expected to hear argument next month in the celebrated contest of the will of the late William Cameron, brother of Simon Cameron and uncle of Senator J. Donald Cameron. In 1877 the testator died at Lewisburg, Union county, leaving an estate worth then a million and a half. He left to survive him his widow Eleanor Cameron, two daughters—Mary M. Packer, wife of ex-Congressman John B. Packer, of Sunbury; Jane Harrison, wife of Dr. Francis Harrison, of Lewisburg—and four grandchildren. On September, 20, 1877, the register of wills of Union county admitted a will to probate which named J. B. Packer and Dr. Francis Harrison as executors. The will was written by Mr. Packer, and by its provisions about nine-tenths of the estate were left to that gentleman's wife. Another will was produced, drawn by John B. Lynn, ex-Secretary of the Commonwealth, with numerous codicils attached, the latest bearing the date of March 15, 1875. In this the two sisters received share and share alike. An appeal was taken from the register's decision a year after by Mrs. Martha C. House, of Pittsburg, one of the granddaughters of the deceased, but Judge Elwell refused to grant an issue. In this shape the controversy now comes before the Supreme court in the form of an appeal from the decision of the register of wills of Union county. It is claimed that the paper proved is not the last will and testament of William Cameron; that if ever executed it was done by fraud and undue influence. A grand array of counsel appears in the case. For Mrs. House and Mrs. Harrison, the two contestants, there are the Hon. Jeremiah S. Black, Andrew H. Dill, Charles S. Wolfe, William Von. Gezer and George A. Guyer. Since the case has reached the Supreme Court Furman Sheppard, of Philadelphia, has also been retained by the contestants. The Packers and the widow Cameron are represented by the Hon. Wayne MacVeagh, S. P. Wolverton, Joshua W. Comly, S. H. Orwig and Miller and Sons.

The lumber of the future may be made of straw. It is to compete with that of the better class, so there seems to be no necessity of introducing knots and shakes into the artificial material. It is manufactured into any desired length, from twelve feet upward, and as much as thirty-two inches in width. The cost is such as to compete with better or finished grades of pine, and the locality or grade of competition cannot vary much, for straw is usually cheap where lumber is cheap. Some samples recently exhibited hold a nail as well as wood, are susceptible to high finish, and can be polished to any extent desired.

The 11 45 train south connects with the Philadelphia & Reading at Rupert, and with the Northern Central at Northumberland.

The roads are very dusty and driving is decidedly unpleasant. The street-sprinkler would be appreciated in town.

Four inches of snow fell on North Mountain last Wednesday night. No wonder the weather remains cold.

Ham, shoulder, and side meats, you can get the cash or trade at F. S. Kinport's Grocery store.

Messrs. M. C. Sloan & Bro. have had their shops on Market street neatly painted and they look like new buildings.

I always have butter and eggs for my customers, and town people will find it to their advantage to trade here as I sell very cheap. F. S. KINPORTS.

Messrs. Holmes & Schuyler have secured the contract for heating by steam the Methodist Church on Third street. They will begin the work at an early day.

A cow belonging to William McMahon of Mount Pleasant township, gave birth to three calves on Saturday. They are thriving and bid fair to continue so.

Mr. Joseph Hummer of Hemlock, has shown us two very large eggs laid by a common hen. The larger of these measures 6¾ by 7¾ inches, and the other is nearly as big.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Normal School for the election of trustees will be held on Monday, May 1st, 1882 at 2½ P. M. at the office of Frank P. Billmeyer, Secretary.

The mail facilities have been increased between Sereno and Pine Summit from three times to six times per week. For which we presume the people are indebted to our Congressman, Hon. Robert Klotz.

There have been some fine large trout caught in Fishing Creek, near this town, the present season. We saw one the other day that measured 14 inches and weighed one and a half pounds.

The Williamsport Gazette & Bulletin says "a woolen factory is to be started at Berwick, Columbia County." For "Berwick" read "Bloomsburg" and the statement is correct.

Lovers of that delightful wild flower, the trailing arbutus, have not been very successful in obtaining the fragrant blossoms thus far. The season has been so backward that even this hardy floral pioneer has not ventured forth.

It is rather chilly for gardening but not a bit too cold for cleaning up your premises, whitewashing and such necessary work. Now is the time to prepare for summer and to make suitable provisions to ward off disease.

The circus season has begun and numerous "largest shows on earth" have taken the road. Whether Bloomsburg is to be favored this season cannot now be stated. Danville has a circus to day and Sunbury has been equally fortunate.

Things will turn out all right in the end doubtless, but isn't this a queer Spring? What with Northern Lights, hail and frosts, the air feels more like November than May. The buds and blossoms haven't got far enough ahead to be killed and that is where they are in luck.

The newspapers of Danville and Sunbury are highly excited over the railroad between Shamokin to Milton and urge the claims of their respective towns with great vehemence. The Reading Company will build the road, however, without regard to editorial opinions.

The finest and cheapest lot of Papeteries in Bloomburg have recently been opened at the COLUMBIAN stationery store. The ladies are respectfully invited to call and see them. No trouble to show goods whether you buy or not.

The postoffice department suggests that all letters of importance, and especially those containing checks or other papers of value, shall have plain directions for returning the same to the sender printed on the outside. If this plan is followed, it will soon do away with the dead-letter office.

The cistern at the rear of the Columbian building having proved too small to contain the water flowing through the motor, we have abandoned it and have laid 850 feet of six-inch pipe from the building to the run below Third street. This will enable us to run our presses for any desired length of time and effectually disposes of the difficulties with which we have hitherto had to contend.

Don't use zinc-plated lemon squeezers but choose such as are of wood or china. A lady in New York was recently made very sick by lemonade and on investigation it was found that the lemons had been compressed in a zinc-plated squeezer. The acid of the lemons produced citrate of zinc, which is poisonous. This fact is worth remembering.

A new amusement in Indiana is egg jumping. The act of jumping causes the involuntary closing of the hands in a tight grip; and in the contest of egg jumping, whoever jumps farthest without breaking the egg that he holds in either hand takes the prize. Some of our athletic young men ought to try this sport. It will afford them exercise and help the merchants, and, perhaps, the tailors.

At a meeting of the Democratic county committee, held at the Court house on Tuesday last, G. A. Herring and P. A. Evans were chosen as representative delegates to the State convention and instructed to support Hon. William Elwell for Governor. F. S. Hunt and R. D. Darlington were selected as Senatorial conferees to choose a delegate, without instructions.

Mrs. Maloy, mother of Frank Maloy of this town, was prostrated by a paralytic stroke on Saturday afternoon and died on Monday. She was visiting her sister and niece in Wilkes Barre at the time of her death. The body was brought to Bloomsburg on Wednesday afternoon and was taken at once to the Lutheran Church, where services were held Rev. Mr. Manhart officiating. The interment was in Rosemont Cemetery.

A remedy resting on the basis of intrinsic worth demands the confidence of all. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is known and used most satisfactorily throughout the land, as is attested by its great sales. Your druggist keeps it.

In answer to letters from all parts of the United States, asking for the signification of the recent aurora, Professor Vennor, the Canadian weather prophet, says: "The approaching summer will be cold and wet over a very considerable portion of the continent, South and West." He should not be surprised should each month for the remainder of the year bring frosts. In past years brilliant auroras at this time in April, at Toronto, New York and more Southern points, have almost invariably been succeeded by cold and wet summers.

The drama of "The Danicheffs" was presented at the Opera House on Thursday evening of last week, by Edwin Lawrence's company. The play has a genuine plot, is well written abounds in thrilling incidents. It has proved very successful and deservedly so, as it is far superior to most of the plays of the kind now on the stage. The company was not particularly strong and in some cases was weak. The best acting was done by Miss Claire Scott as the Countess Danicheff, Miss Fremont as the Princess, Mr. Lawrence as Osip and Mr. Dalton as Zackaroff deserve favorable mention. The role of Count Vladimir was execrably rendered, the actor having neither grace nor force.

FISH AND GAME LAWS.—It is illegal to catch and retain trout under five inches in length, and it is illegal to catch them in any other way than with rod, hook and line. Penalty for each fish illegally caught or retained $10, or offered for sale $25. Bass and pike fishing commences on the 1st of June, and it is illegal to catch them in any other way than with rod, hook and line, under a penalty of $10 for each fish illegally caught. Sunday hunting and fishing is prohibited under a penalty of $25. One-half of all fines goes to the informer. At this time of the year there is little game of any kind that can be legally hunted or killed. Constables having personal knowledge of violations of law, or if furnished with good evidence that the law has been violated, are bound to make return thereof.

A Man's Head Cut Off.

The engineer on a "wild cat" train running from Kingston down the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg road on Saturday night at 11 o'clock, discovered a dark object upon the track a short distance from the depot. It proved to be the body of a man, but, as the train was running at a good rate of speed, the efforts to prevent an accident were futile. The wheels of the cars passed over the head of the man and crushed it so badly that but a small portion of it could be found when an investigation was made after the train was brought to a stand-still. The name of the victim was McCloskey. He worked at the Kingston shops. He lived at Plymouth, where the body was finally taken. He had been at Kingston during the early hours of the evening, and, it is reported, was intoxicated when he left.—Wilkes Barre Record.

One of the most fruitful sources of disease in the household is a dirty cellar. There has been occasion within the last few years to record many instances in which desolating sickness has entered families through this cause, carrying off one after another by diphtheria or some other deadly disease. The cause was not suspected until it was too late to avoid the consequences. An apparently slight exhalation from standing water or from a damp cellar where water cannot be found, especially if there should happen to be any decaying vegetable matter in it, may affect a whole family. The presence of this malarial atmosphere in the house is not detected until fever or some other disease breaks out. Even those who are aware of the existence of dampness and of their exposure to malarial influences do not always take immediate measures to correct the evil, but live on in security or in hope until sickness awakens them to their danger.

Buckhorn Items.

The storm which passed over this place on Wednesday evening last did considerable damage. Besides sowing the fences broadcast, the house of Mr. Dennis Pursel Sr. was damaged to the extent of one end blown in and a part of the roof blown off. Mr. Reuben Guild's barn was also partly unroofed.

The Lutheran church has been papered and the appearance greatly improved.

Not a Candidate for Governor.

The following letter from Judge Elwell to Col. McKean of Bradford county explains itself.

Bloomsburg, April 22 1882.

Col. H. B. McKean,

Dear Sir,

I notice in the newspapers the action of the Standing Committee of Bradford County, of which you are Chairman, in respect to instructions to the delegates to the Democratic State convention. It is needless to say that I am gratified by the good opinion of the people of my native county, but as I am not a candidate for nomination to the office of Governor, and have no aspirations in that direction I hope your committee will relieve the delegates from obedience to the instructions, so far as regards the use of my name.

Very Respectfully Yours.

WILLIAM ELWELL.

Since this letter was mailed, the standing committee of this county has also instructed its delegates for Judge Elwell. We are authorized by him to say to the committee that the compliment is highly appreciated, but that it is his desire that his name shall not be used in the State convention, as a candidate for nomination to the office of Governor.

Isaac Osterhout, who died in Wilkes Barre last week, left a fortune of more than $450,000. Of this sum $350,000 was bequeathed to found a free libary, and several prominent citizens are designated to carry the plan into effect. This is truly a munificent gift and the people of Wilkes Barre have every reason to feel proud that so liberal and benevolent a man has lived among them.

Catawissa Locals.

Mrs. W. F. Bodine of your town spent some time with friends here last Saturday.

The masquerade ball in Masonic Hall was well attended last week.

Mr. Jacob Ervin spent last week and this in Williamsport.

Mr. A. H. Sharpless is building a house on Shuman street.

Mr. N. E. Hamlin is building a house on Mill Street opposite the Zarr homestead.

A large new bell was placed in the belfry of the new public school building on the hill on Monday.

John C. Yocum had a very handsome new book-case placed in his law office last week. The case is made of chestnut, trimmed with walnut and finished in oil.

Catawissa is notorious for at least two things, a well disposed, kind hearted, genial citizenship and "awful" bad side-walks. If the town were incoporated into a borough it would be a great credit to the former and would certainly not hurt the latter one iota.

The quiet of the town was broken about ten o'clock on the evening of the 19th, by an alarm of fire. Scores of men, women and children hastened to the scene, when it was found that the wood house attached to the rear part of Dr. J. K. Robins' dwelling was burning. The flames soon yielded to the showers of water coming from the bucket brigade and the miniature fire engine. If it had not been for the abundant rain of the afternoon and evening there might have been a conflagration as there were several other buildings standing near. The fire is supposed to have caught from some fresh lime that had been thrown against the building near some shavings—the rain slacking the lime and causing sufficient heat to ignite the shavings and building. This warning should be heeded and a fire department established at once capable of protecting the people and their homes and property.

HAND—WALLER.

On Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock Mr. Charles W. Hand of New York, and Miss Julia daughter of Rev. D. J. Waller Sr. joined hands and were made husband and wife. About one hundred persons were present at the residence to witness the interesting ceremony, which was performed by the father of the bride. The large and handsome parlors were beautifully decorated with floral mounds and designs, and the whole house was brilliantly illuminated with gas, which gave the effect of an evening wedding. The bridal party entered the parlor in the following order; the ushers, Messrs. Norman White, Chas. Hebard, Isaac Post, and John H. Torrey in full dress black suits; the bridesmaids, Misses Laura Waller, Mary S. Waller, Clara Rogers, and Jean Sterling, in lovely dresses of white India silk, two trimmed in beaded Spanish lace, and two in Moresque lace: then followed the groom with his "best man" A. C. Hand, and the bride leaning on the arm of her brother, Rev. Dr. Waller. The bride's dress was of white satin Merveilleux and Moire, trimmed in Duchesse lace, en train, with long veil. The ceremony was performed at the back end of the parlor, and then followed congratulations, after which a delicious repast, prepared mostly by a Philadelphia caterer, was served. The bride and groom left on the evening train for Scranton, whence they will go on an extended tour. They were the recipients of a very large number of beautiful presents, tokens of the affection and esteem in which both are held by their many friends. We join with the whole community in wishing them a happy life.

Among the strangers present at the wedding were S. J. Foster, Miss Grace Foster, W. S. Torrey, Kittie Torrey, Henry Z. Russell, Joseph Welsh, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Tracy, Howard E. Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hand, Mrs. E. Hand, H. S. and H. C. Hand, all of Honesdale, Dr. C. L. Dunning, Miss Lizzie Harvey and G. M. Lewis of Wilkes-barre; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richmond, Miss Hattie Hand, Willie J. and Alfred Hand Jr. and Thomas Watts, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Chemberlin, Miss Eno, and Mr. W. Eno, of Plymouth; Miss Sade Derrickson of Hazleton, Miss Romaine Merkle of Mechanicsburg, Miss Julia Waller of Washington.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whiskey beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head, tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused by imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness, and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors, and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest of blessings.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last!

No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William, (an Indian remedy,) called Dr. William's Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of 25 or 30 years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. William's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles &c., and for nothing else.

Read what Hon. J. M. Coffinberry of Cleveland says about Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment: I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. William's Indian Ointment.

For sale by all druggists or mailed on receipt of price, $1.00.

Courtesy at Home.

Good breeding, like charity, should begin at home. The days are past when children used to rise the moment their parents entered the room where they were and stand until they had received permission to sit. But the mistake is now made usually in the other direction of allowing to small boys and girls too much license to disturb the peace of the household. I think the best way to train children in courtesy would be to observe toward them a scrupulous politeness. I would go so far as to say that we should make it as much a point to listen to children without interrupting them and to answer sincerely and respectfully as if they were grown up. And indeed many of their wise, quaint sayings are far better worth listening to than the stereotyped common-places of most morning callers. Of course to allow uninterrupted chatter would be to surrender the repose of the household, but it is very easy if children are themselves scrupulously to respect the convenience of others, and to know when to talk and when to be silent.—Louise Chandler Moulton.

A New Penalty for Law-Breaking.

There is a Justice of the Peace out in Crosby County. Week before last he found a man guilty of shooting a bull that did not belong to him, and fined him $75. "Why, Jedge," said the doomed man, "I haven't got no $75: I can't pay no sich fine." "The State of Texas puts me in this office to find out a way to make men pay their fines. You will cut cedar poles until you have cut enough to satisfy the majesty of the law," replied the Justice. "But, Jedge, what use has the State of Texas got for cedar poles?" "The State of Texas hasn't got no use for cedar poles. It's this court who needs them cedar poles to build a fence. I'll take the poles and settle with the State of Texas for them." And the poor devil is cutting cedar poles for the State of Texas now.

Hubbardston Nonsuch Apple.—An apple of great popularity among the older growers of apples in Pennsylvania, is the one of the above name. This is a fine, large early winter fruit, crisp and yet tender with an agreeable mingling of sweetness and acidity, which is very much liked by most people. It originated in Hubbardston, Mass., and seems to be an apple well adapted to that State, growing in great perfection and beauty there. Our younger fruit growers have over-looked this fine apple for newer sorts, but are now finding out what they have missed. It is said to yield good returns for good care, and thus it is well suited for those who love to see what good fruit they can produce.—Tribune and Farmer.

A member of a London club was standing on the club-house steps, when a gentleman came up to him and asked him if there was a gentleman with one eye named Walker in the club. "I don't know," was the answer: "what was the name of the other eye."

"What is meant by the pomps and vanities of this world?" asked the Sunday school teacher. "Them flowers on your hat, mum," replied the quick witted scholar.

"Where are our girls?" anxiously inquires a religious exchange. We don't know. We can't keep track of all the girls in creation.
